

FEI Behavioral Health, Inc. (FEI) has a 40-year history in enhancing workforce resiliency by offering a full spectrum of solutions, from EAP and organizational development to workplace violence prevention and crisis management. One of the most successful social enterprises in America, FEI is wholly owned by the Alliance for Strong Families and Communities, a national network of social sector organizations working to achieve its vision of a healthy and equitable society.

FEI is a for-profit entity of the Alliance with offices in Milwaukee, WI, Atlanta, GA, and New York, NY. FEI has been in operation since 1979 and is one of the largest behavioral health companies in the United States.

A pioneer in behavioral health, FEI developed the first national network EAP in 1979, the first national managed care program for substance abuse with the General Motors Corporation in 1984 and offered one of the first truly integrated EAP and Work-Life programs in 1990.

FEI partners with our customers to protect and enhance their workforce effectiveness and organizational resiliency. We offer flexible solutions for the full spectrum of their workforce resilience goals, from EAP and wellness to crisis preparedness and management.

We leverage our proven resources, compassionate experts and robust network to improve employees' focus, empower managers and prepare organizations to handle the unthinkable crisis, so that they can maintain a healthy, resilient organization.

Unique in our industry, FEI was created to support and further the mission of its parent company by delivering services and needed resources to family-serving agencies throughout the United States. Our mission has expanded over the years to include serving many of America's largest and best-known companies, their employees and dependents. We continue to firmly believe that, by strengthening families, we strengthen the workplace.

Because of our considerable success in serving almost two million covered lives, FEI has developed into a leader in behavioral health.

Unlike other national EAPs, we retain a small-company culture with genuine teamwork and an enthusiasm for helping others.

Our unique, fully-integrated and in-house Work- Life and Crisis Management departments seamlessly deliver top-quality services while better managing costs, allowing FEI to quote highly competitive rates.
