FEI to Present at ACRC Conference
Keeping workplaces safe through conflict resolution skill building

March 14, 2018, Milwaukee, Wis. — FEI Behavioral Health, a social enterprise with a 35-year history and a leader in workforce resilience from workplace violence prevention and crisis management to EAP and organizational development, will present at the upcoming Association of Children's Residential Centers (ACRC) 62nd Annual Conference, running March 26-29, 2018, in Boston, Mass.

FEI Business Solutions Engineer Raquelle Solon will present a poster during the President's Welcome Reception and Poster Presentation Session on March 26 at 5:00 p.m. EST. The presentation, "From Conflict to Creative Solutions," will discuss how communication plays a critical role in conflict resolution.

Because conflict is often the root of more serious workplace behaviors, Solon will highlight three ways to maintain healthy relationships through effective conflict management as well as discuss potential positive outcomes of conflict and ways conflict resolution skills can boost self-confidence.

In addition to her poster presentation, Solon also will be exhibiting at the conference.

Solon is responsible for helping organizations determine and implement a holistic crisis management system. She also is responsible for the delivery of workplace violence prevention, leadership development, and crisis management trainings, and is experienced in reviewing current training and policies and procedures to identify gaps and work with clients towards a solution. Solon was named "Woman of the Year" for 2012-2013 by the National Association of Professional Women.
